The obverse shows the image of the typical “carriel antioqueño” in which a border is visible at the upper part with four dotted, parallel, and concentric lines representing the stitching of the carriel. Made of leather, it has a strap for carrying it slung across the shoulder. Its characteristic bellows-like shape is defined by its multiple pockets, twelve on average, including five “secret” ones, whose openings are concealed so that only the owners know where they keep their most personal items. The buckle, eyelets, rings, and rivets guarantee its durability, which is essential for an item associated with work and travel.

The reverse shows a muleteer seen from behind wearing an “Aguadeño” hat, a leather apron, and his essential carriel. He is looking towards the mountains, the setting of the Antioquian colonization during which Jericó was founded in 1850. According to tradition, the production of carriel began there in the 19th century and soon spread to other municipalities such as Envigado, as reflected in the caption “JERICÓ-ENVIGADO”. The border with four parallel, dotted, and concentric lines representing the stitching of the carriel is also included, along with a latent image as a security feature that, depending on the angle from which it is viewed, reflects the initials “BR” (which stands for Banco de la República (the Central Bank of Colombia (the Central Bank of Colombia)) or the Arabic numeral “20,” the caption REPÚBLICA DE COLOMBIA (REPUBLIC OF COLOMBIA), the denomination of COP $20,000, and the year 2024.

The commemorative coin will be available to the public starting 15 November 2024. It may be purchased at the Bank’s Treasury counters in Bogotá, the Luis Ángel Arango Library, and Casa Gómez Campuzano, as well as at Banco de la República (the Central Bank of Colombia (the Central Bank of Colombia)) branches and cultural agencies nationwide, upon appointment request through the website according to the schedule on each branch.
